Affiliate marketing is a unique opportunity in the online world. You can set up one or more niche websites, poised to become an authority in your niche, and earn amazing commissions as an affiliate. You can create websites or blogs filled with excellent content, product reviews, and affiliate links that help you earn money passively.

But, you have to know what to focus on that will be profitable for you. You have to have good ideas about what to promote and how to promote it so that you're as successful as possible as an affiliate. No worries, because there are ways to always find the best, most profitable ideas for your websites.

First, you have to decide which general topic you're interested in. From there, you can really narrow things down based on profitability. Think of what's selling well, what's trending, and what's going to be evergreen enough that your effort will pay off in the short term and the long term. It's also important to go narrow enough or take a unique enough angle that you can very quickly surpass the competition.

If you're planning to create websites about physical products, consider what sites like Amazon are really pushing. If you see something on their front pages or in their special promotions sections, then it's likely the products are hot sellers. Not to mention that Amazon has their bestseller lists. If you can get a solid site up around products that are bestsellers and that people are actually looking for more information about, you can profit quite nicely.

When many people hear about profiting with affiliate marketing and niche sites, they tend to make the mistake of creating a website based on their own interests. It's all well and good to do that, but if you want to maximize profits, you need to make sure you're targeting something that's already proven to be profitable and is a niche or sub-niche that won't be too hard to break into.

It's also worth mentioning that there's a lot of competition out there for some of the most profitable topics. Marketers from all over the world are targeting these profits. That's why it's going to be easiest for you to choose a certain subset of profitable topics. So, you wouldn't target ALL weight loss products, but you might target a specific type or a specific sub niche that's interested in weight loss.

Just as with anything you do online, you need to find a unique angle on a profitable topic. You'll create great content and reviews around the topics you're promoting. You'll become a true part of the niche you've decided to target.

It can be a good idea to start small and work your way up. Test different niches to see what you prefer to write about. It used to be that you could easily profit with mini websites. These days, you'll have a much easier time of it if you create powerful authority websites on a certain topic over time.

Since you'll be creating a lot of content, you should have an interest in what you're writing about so you'll be motivated to run the site long term.

You can start small and work your way up. You can test different niches and different products until you figure out what's going to work best for you. Scale up your winners by writing more content and reviews and ditch your losers.

The secret of success with niche websites and affiliate marketing is choosing a topic that's known to be profitable. Sites like Amazon provide you with this information. You will add a lot of great content to promote these topics that will really help that audience... and move them toward the sale.

Another secret of success is sticking with it. Yes, you can earn a phenomenal passive income with niche sites. But, it won't happen overnight. Try to make a name for yourself in the niche. Only choose topics that are based on potential profits instead of solely based on your interests. Combine your interests with the potential for profits and you'll be on the fast track to profits.

In some ways, building profitable niche websites can be more difficult and take longer than other methods of earning money online. You have to work on building your traffic and authority-- that means writing a lot of content. When you do that, you can really benefit with excellent passive income few marketers dream about.

Hopefully, I've saved you a lot of time and hassle by helping you ensure you're sticking with the most profitable ideas. Do that, and test certain niches out yourself before dedicating a lot of time and money to them, and you can profit like crazy.
